

The Convergence Point

"A Players"

Click To Watch

View All Clips in the Media Center

The Convergence Point exists to help both individuals and organizations make sure that the things that are really important are the things that are consistently getting done. It is the merging of the personal and professional into the everyday Business of Life.

It is not acceptable to succeed in one area of our lives only to fail in all the others.

Meaningful relationships and bottom line results are not mutually exclusive.

Are you personally and professionally reaching your maximum potential or are you sacrificing one at the expense of the other?

Success may be in the eye of the beholder but significance demands that we add value to other people through relationships.

Our passion is to help you define what is really important and translate that into the cultural DNA of your total life.

GETTING STARTED

If you are interested in receiving more information or having us contact you for a no-cost conversation about how we can partner with you personally or professionally, contact us at 205-213-2873 or email Dan.